

Demand Quality - Demand Synchronous

As school administrators turn to virtual instruction to fill teacher vacancies, it is important to note that not all online education delivers the same results. While pre-recorded, asynchronous instruction is affordable, the quality of education students receive is different from what they experience when they have a live, synchronous teacher. These are a few of the key differences between synchronous and asynchronous instruction.

Synchronous Instruction (Proximity Learning)

Asynchronous Instruction (Other Online Educators)

INSTRUCTION/ENGAGEMENT

Teacher Interactions	Daily Live Instruction/ Interactions	Live Interactions Limited to Office Hours
Parent/Teacher Conference Participation	Attend/Interact	Do Not Attend
Faculty Meeting Participation	Attend/Interact	Do Not Attend

CURRICULUM

Delivery	Livestreamed Via Zoom or Teams	Self-Guided Online
Quality	Robust	Robust
District Curriculum Adoption	Yes	No
Learning Management System Adoption	Yes	No
Online Educational Tool Adoption	Yes	No
NCAA Guideline Alignment	Always	Sometimes

TEACHER QUALIFICATIONS

State Certification	Yes	Yes
National Virtual Teacher Association Certification	Yes	No
Professional Learning Community Training	Supported	Not Supported

SUPPORT STYLE

Customer Service	Dedicated Client Success Manager	Centralized Call Center
------------------	-------------------------------------	-------------------------

EFFECTIVENESS

Pass Rate	85% Average	50% National Average
-----------	-------------	----------------------

Engage Students with Synchronous Instruction

Don't limit your student's academic experience or achievement by settling for asynchronous instruction. Incorporating synchronous instruction in your classroom gives students access to expert teachers focused on keeping them engaged and excelling while providing them with the educational equity they deserve.

Do it today!

Contact Proximity Learning to learn more.

Take Action, Now!

Follow Us on Social Media

@ProximityLearning

🌐 proxlearn.com

📍 1800 E 4th St, Suite 131
Austin, TX 78702

